

27th City Council District

Joan Flowers (D)

I'm Joan Flowers, and I'm running for the 27th District New York City Council here in Queens. I've lived and worked in this district for over 25 years, have served as Staff Attorney with the Queens Legal Aid Society, and I'm a local business owner of a full service fitness center since 1993.

With your vote, I will be the first female council member in this district's history.

I'm committed to fight for quality public school education with needed professional teacher development, and I will battle to bring the billions in state monies that are owed to our schools and children.

When elected, I will continue to advocate relentlessly to protect deserved senior citizen funding to improve the quality of life for our golden citizens. I'm the right woman, at the right time to create much-needed jobs for our neighborhoods, and to help protect our families with everyday healthcare needs.

As your Council Woman, I will work to help law enforcement work with our youth, civic and religious leaders as a community.

With your vote, together, we can make our dreams a reality for all people of all backgrounds, and cultural traditions.
